PROFILE

I am a third-year student majoring in Web Design and Software Development. I have foundational and practical experience in Front-end technologies including HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React, and Tailwind CSS, as well as basic knowledge of backend development with C#. I have built responsive user interfaces following modern design principles and gained hands-on experience through academic and personal projects. I am highly motivated, responsible, and eager to continuously learn and grow as a Front-end Developer.
